

Hope Bus Case Studies

"Ali is 11 years old and is a Hope Bus student. He is an orphan with no mother. The bus team noticed that Ali was behaving aggressively, and was bullying other children. One of the social workers studied Ali's case, and discovered that Ali's behavior was a result of jealousy towards children that have mothers. Through ongoing support, our social worker was able to gain Ali's trust and provide a safe environment, and was able to help Ali overcome bullying behaviors."

"Lubna is a 10-year-old girl, and she is one of the most outstanding students at the Hope Bus. She is very intelligent and achieves high marks in her studies on the bus. Lubna has a dream of being a teacher in the future, so she invited the children in her area of residence to her house to give them lessons in writing and reading, just like the lessons she receives on the bus. Lubna is a wonderful example of the change that the bus brings to children."

"Fatima is 8 years old and is a Hope Bus student. The bus team noticed that Fatima was constantly absent from the bus. One day, Fatima came to the bus with bruises on her, and when the bus team asked her, she answered that she was being beaten continuously by her mother and stepfather, and her parents are divorced. A team from the organization contacted Fatima's father and informed him of the situation in which Fatima is living. The team filed a lawsuit to grant custody to Fatima's father, and she is now living in much better conditions."
